

Abstract

The present invention provides a dispensing device used for the slow controlled dispensing and diffusion of gels and thickened liquids. More particularly, the present 5 invention relates to wick type air freshening devices, which employ a wick to convey materials from an enclosed container by capillary action.